PUBLIC TRANSIT

Burlington County is served by several public transit carriers. NJ TRANSIT operates 13 bus routes throughout the County. As the maps shows, all but one route serves the northern section of the County. These bus routes provide service to/from Philadelphia, Camden City, and Gloucester and Ocean counties. NJ TRANSIT also operates the River LINE light rail system, providing service between Camden City and Trenton. Of the 21 station stops, 11 are located in Burlington County providing frequent service to the Route 130 Corridor and river front communities. Camden City and Trenton are regional transit hubs, thus county residents can transfer to other public transit services throughout the Philadelphia, Trenton and New York City regions.

The BurLink bus system is provided by the Burlington County Board of Chosen Freeholders. This six route system provides "last mile connector" service between employment parks and NJ TRANSIT bus and rail stops. This is a deviated fixed route service which operates Monday through Friday, primarily during the AM and PM peak periods. A reciprocal transfer system is available with NJ TRANSIT services which lessens commuting costs for passengers.

Burlington County residents with a disability have access to two public transit systems that provide curb to curb services: Access Link and Sen Han. Passengers must meet eligibility criteria, register with the carrier and make advanced reservations to use these services.

Access Link is provided by NJ TRANSIT in compliance with ADA regulations requiring public transit systems to be accessible to persons with disabilities. Access Link routes operate within ¾ of a mile of NJ TRANSIT's fixed route bus routes, therefore only the northern section of the county is covered. Service is also only provided during the times that the fixed route services are running.

Sen Han provides services for senior citizens and persons with disabilities in Camden and Burlington counties. Sen Han will take eligible passengers to medical appointments, shopping facilities and makes some employment trips. Trips are provided primarily Monday through Friday.

Other transportation services are provided by several County and private non-profit organizations. These services usually have eligibility criteria and are limited to the clients of the organization providing the transportation, such as the elderly and persons with disabilities. These organizations include: Occupational Training Center, Twin Oaks, Lester A. Drenk Behavioral Health Center, Catholic Charities, Crossroads, Inc., BCCAP, Transitional Housing, Inc.

DEMOGRAPHICS

Population Characteristics
Burlington County's population increased by approximately 6% (23,300 people) between 2000 and 2010 (US Census). Of the 40 municipalities in Burlington County, 18 towns experienced a growth rate equal to or higher than the county overall. Additionally, 13 towns experienced at least a 10% increase in population between 2000 and 2010. Lumberton, Westampton, Chesterfield, Delanco, Bordentown Township, Hainesport, Woodland and Mansfield increased their population by 20% or more; with Mansfield experiencing an increase of 68%. As the map shows, several of these towns are located along the Route 38 corridor which is served by minimal public transit. Ten towns lost population, however only Mt Holly, New Hanover and Bass River lost more than 5% of their population.

List of Current Service Needs/Gaps

(since last update)

	Example: Lack of inter-county connections to regional medical facility.
1)	Improve Services timelines, reliability and friendliness
2)	Allow children of busses with mothers for healthcare trips
3)	Provide free service for work search customers
4)	Increase revenue
5)	Implement zone fares system and provide monthly or yearly passes
6)	Improve equipment
7)	Help on how to ride including bilingual assistance
8)

Strategies to Address Identified Needs/Gaps

(since last update)

	Example: Develop inter-county cooperative agreement
1)	Speaking to senior clubs/organizations, listen to their needs and ideas on how to fund transporttion. .
2)	Enlist assistance of faith based organizations to fund transportation trips
3)	At some point fares must be instituted or system will not be sustainable. Zone to zone fares should be considered at a minimum.
4)	The people who plan the routes need to figure out where populations of disabled, elderly and low income people live and add more bus routes. BOS could be asked for this data.
5)	Church Groups (volunteers) to provide group or individual transportation services
6)	TAC committee along with SCUCS administration is working on a message that all callers to both counties will hear repeated reminding them of the need for the cost-share.
7)	Travel training will assist person able to take public transit use the system-if this grant is funded it may assist many disabled persons to seek employment and maintain same.
8)	Group orientation, connect to transit and one on one travel instruction.
